

Huawei Router Fiber Optic Light is Blue

Overview

If your router is on, as indicated by the blue light, but you can't access the internet, the best way to resolve the issue is to perform a hard reset. This process clears all caches, refreshes the RAM, and restarts the router. When the PON light is illuminated, it indicates that the router is powered on and receiving power from its power source. Router lights can feel cryptic when you're trying to figure out why your internet isn't working.
